Foreword

THE BEST YEARS OF OUR LIVES

WHEN we, the Class of 1952, began high school, we entered "the best years of our lives." These years were important ones, for they taught us teamwork, a respect for higher learning, and social intelligence.

Our teamwork during the past four years came from working together to raise class funds, planning school events and cheering our teams on to victory. Coming into an organization as an individual and becoming part of a working body, developed personal qualities which will help us in future life.

In these high school years, we learned the fundamentals of higher knowledge. From the academic work we gained experience in thinking for ourselves through individual research. This breaking away from grade-school practices proved to be more of an adventure than we had foreseen, for it gave us a chance to use our own judgment.

The school became the center of our social life, with dances, hobby activities, athletics, and various clubs. Here we became acquainted with social graces; we changed from self-centered children to broad-minded individuals with respect for others. This is the quality which makes friends and influences people.

We realize now that all we have learned in high school will reflect on everything we do in later life. So, at the end of our high school career we, the graduates of 1952, present "the best years of our lives" in this, our yearbook.

MR. ALLEN H. KUNTZ

AS our class adviser for three years, Mr. Kuntz, you have indeed helped to make our stay at Lancaster High School the best years of our lives. Your patience, hard work, and kindness have left a lasting memory with us. So we, the Class of 1952, wish to express our gratitude by dedicating this, our yearbook, to you.

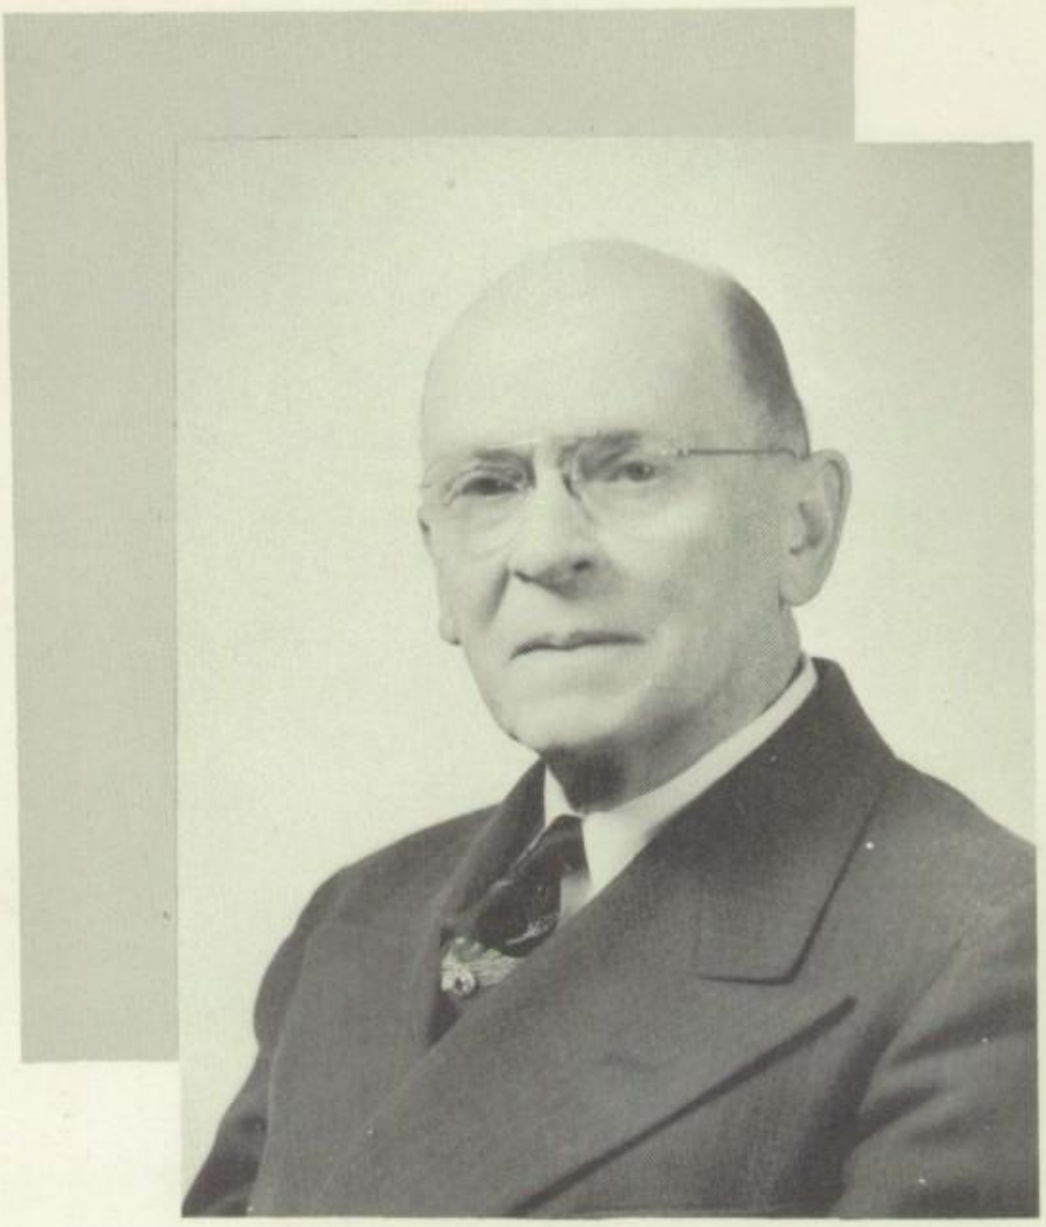
In Memoriam



MR. JOSEPH R. ADOLF

TO a man who gave so much of his time, interest, and effort in twenty-nine years of unpaid service to the Lancaster Board of Education, the Class of 1952 wishes to pay special respect and honor.

During his seventeen years as President of the Board, he helped promote an addition to our high school building, and the three new elementary schools now planned or under construction.

The youth of Lancaster, and its whole educational system, lost a real friend and supporter in Mr. Joseph R. Adolf.

Board Of Education

U.F.S. DISTRICT #8

Mr. Frank Seeger, Mr. Walter Winter,

Mr. Brown, Mr. Raymond Over,

Mr. Lyle Schoenthal, Mr. John

Dauscher, Mr. Harold Davis

THE Board of Education of Lancaster UFS District #8 has spent many hours during the last three years in planning educational facilities for Lancaster's boys and girls, both present and future.

On April 30, 1948, Dr. W. K. Wilson of the State Education Department inspected our schools and recommended that we construct three new elementary buildings, as well as an addition to the high school. A Buffalo firm of architects, Duane Lyman and Associates, drew the plans, which were then approved by the Buildings and Grounds Division at Albany.

If the original proposal to bond the district for two million, three hundred thousand dollars had not been defeated at the first election, the entire program would have been possible. On February 20, 1950 the district voters did approve of constructing two new grade schools, one on Como Park at $589,000 and the other on the Division Street site at $377,000. However, a proposal to build the Court Street elementary school was again defeated.

In November 1950 the voters of District #8 voted an additional sum of $95,000 for the Central Avenue School. The new buildings are expected to be completed by September of this year.

In Memoriam

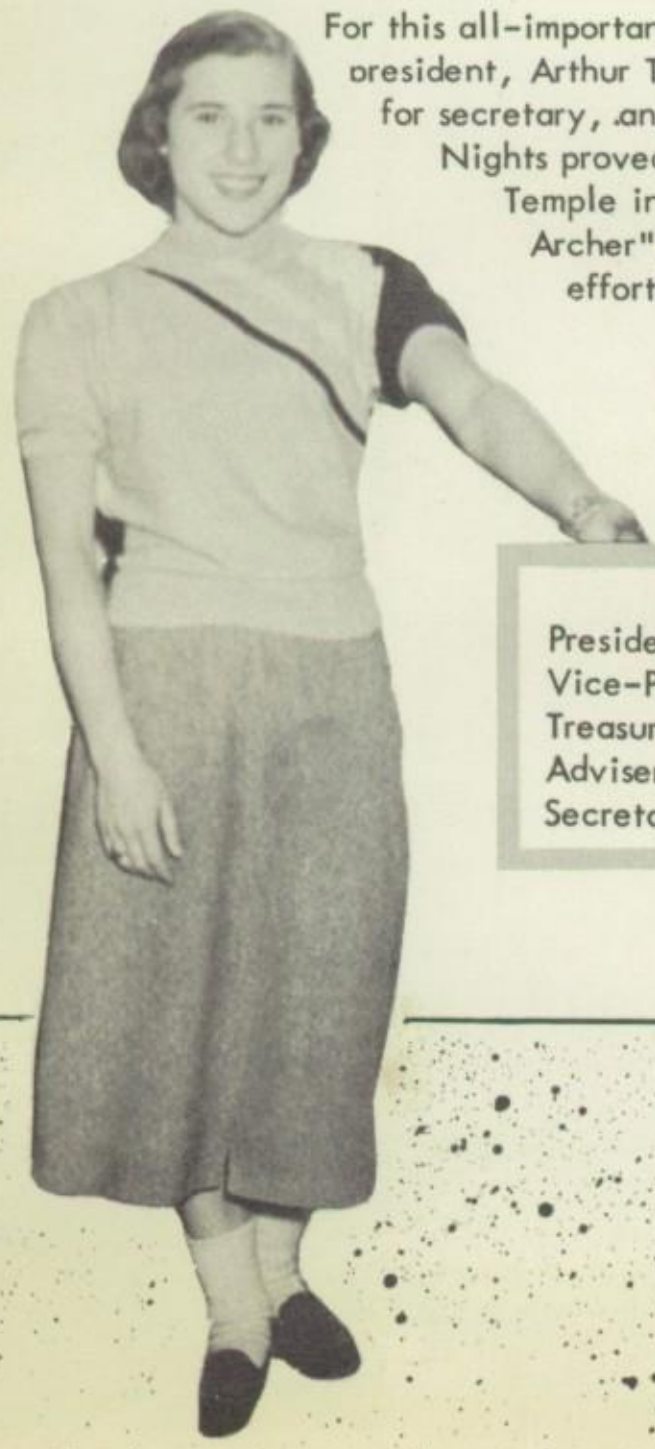
RICHARD E. HAVENS

WE wish to pay tribute to this member of the Class of 1952, whose death in the summer of 1950 was a real loss to our Senior group as well as to his family.

Class History

WHEN Mr. Allen Kuntz was made our adviser in 1950, the present class of '52 established a record at L.H.S. by promoting the largest magazine sales campaign in the school's history. This fund gave our treasury a good start. Under its capable officers--President William Golus, Vice-president Sue Barnhart, and Secretary-treasurer Richard Dyer--the class also staged a successful Sophomore Hop.

As Juniors we selected green and silver for class colors, the camellia as our flower. Ronald Mills was elected president, William Golus vice-president, Jacqueline Rohl secretary, and Vito Cavaleri treasurer. The highlight of our social events was the Junior Prom, using a blue-moon setting as its theme.



For this all-important Senior Year, the class chose William Golus for president, Arthur Tamrowski for vice-president, Elizabeth Dalconzo for secretary, and Sue Barnhart as treasurer. Our Senior Social Nights proved very popular. Our ball, held at the Masonic Temple in February, and our annual play, "Meet Corliss Archer", held in March, were the outstanding class efforts.

With graduation drawing near, the Class of 1952 feels that so far it has lived up to its motto, "The past, the present, and the future are ours."

A LIVELY election last spring brought victory to the Progressive Party over the Constructive Party. The winning group's program included a date bureau, a sports queen, and publication of a student information handbook.

Ronald Mills was elected president; Carl Bellas, vice-president; Margaret McCutcheon, secretary, and Patricia Stendahl, treasurer.

For the first time at L.H.S. a regulation voting machine was used for this purpose, so that our students could become familiar with one.

SENIOR HONOR SOCIETY

Miss Van Name, adviser

Ann Galasso, Cheryl Korn, Andrea Robbins, Devon Schermerhorn, Carmela Ceppaglia, Richard Dyer, Gloria Sturm, William Golus, Sue Barnhart, Ilse Seifert

THIS year's members of the Senior Honor Society served as receptionists in the first floor corridor. They sponsored several candy sales to increase their treasury, hoping in the future to use this fund for needy scholarship students. The group also financed the donation and cost of framing the organization's charter, to be displayed in the main corridor.

JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

Janice Karl, Beth Lupton, Robert Weirick, Barbara Sandusky, Yvonne Wirt, Joan Rozler, Miss George, adviser, Karl Ribbeck, Beth Kroecker

THE Lancaster Chapter of the National Junior Honor Society was first organized in 1951, when it was installed as part of the national group. Officers for this year are: Yvonne Wirt, president; Barbara Sandusky, vice-president; Robert Weirick, secretary, and Beth Lupton, treasurer.

CAST — Seated: F. Germain, S. Javert, B. Burke, H. Schroeder, A. Vriesen
Standing: A. Tamrowski, E. Smith, Mr. Schrader, director; A. Robbins, E. Dalconzo, J. Hadsall

THE cast worked diligently under Mr. Schrader's direction to produce Meet Corliss Archer on March 7 and 8, 1952. The plot concerned a typical teen-age girl, and a near catastrophe in the Archer and Franklin household.

Corliss wrote an imaginary diary telling what a drunkard her father was, and how her boyfriend was making illegal moonshine. This was read by an old maid cousin who believed it. To the delight of the audience, several mix-ups occurred before the plot finally straightened out, and Corliss returned to her "normal life."

THE J. V. cheering squad is composed of six sophomore girls. They were chosen when freshmen, and next year will advance to varsity cheerleaders. This year's varsity group were led by their peppy captain, "Liz" Dalconzo. In the last four years the girls have introduced many new yells such as "The Score Cheer," "Set 'em in the High Chair," and the Alma Mater cheer.

Absent: J. Gould, D. Bates, M. Voss

THE above members of the layout staff and photography staff did a very capable job under the supervision of Miss Bates, Mr. Schermerhorn, and Arthur Tamrowski, the Cayugan art editor.

Home room representatives for the 1952 yearbook were A. Galasso, R. Dyer, J. Rohl, S. Barnhart, C. Ceppaglia, A. Schmidt, and J. Setter. Paste-ups were done by A. Kihl, D. Nuwer, F. Johnson and A. Schmidt.

On the business staff the following seniors did outstanding service: S. Barnhart, G. Ederer, D. Fischer, F. Germain, W. Golus, J. Hadsall, B. Hake, J. Hawk, F. Johnson, C. Kaczmarek, S. Klinkman, D. Koszuta, V. Koestler, C. Korn, H. Menzies, E. Meyer, R. Mills, J. Rohl, M. Salvadore, D. Schermerhorn, R. Schilling, R. Schutt, I. Seifert, A. Smith, R. Sroczynski, F. Steiner, J. Trobert, G. Sturm, R. Sugg, M. Vetter, A. Vriesen, and P. Wrobbel.

And now that we have finished compiling our yearbook, we hope that you, our readers, will enjoy owning and reading it as much as we have enjoyed presenting it!
